

Electra's FLYING FORTRESS

"Flying Fortress" — the BATTLESHIP OF THE SKIES, the World War II B-17 that brought the enemy to his knees and destroyed his will to continue the war. Electra's electronic video game version of this remarkable fighting airship is a single player bombing-run and air-combat game. The play of the game is for the "Fortress" to score points by destroying as many ground targets as possible on its bombing run while shooting down attacking fighter planes. Plants, hangars, water towers and other ground objects explode before your eyes in this exciting game of skill, reflexes and competition.
